

Genesis Global Fractional C-Level/ Executive Placement

Your company has identified the need to fill a critical and strategic executive/leadership role but, due to various constraints, hiring a full-time person for the position is not currently possible. A fractional (or sometimes referred to as virtual or “v”) executive placement can be your interim, or even long-term, solution. You may need a fractional marketing head part-time for a defined period, to set and execute your marketing strategy, or build out the marketing function. Or a fractional CISO to jump in to build and roll out a GRC framework and provide guidance on KPIs to measure and report. Or possibly a finance leader who can audit processes so you can meet regulatory compliance requirements.

No matter the requirement, with over 25 years of experience, Genesis Global has an extensive network of talent resources from which to draw. With our white-glove approach, we first work to understand the unique needs of your company. We have candidate identification support from over 50 specialized staffing firms nationwide that is seamless to you. This allows us to source the right talent to fill your fractional needs, from CISO to CMO to CFO and more.
